

Fall Workshop 2010
A Legacy of Significant Learning

Wednesday, August 18, 2010
The Bowld Student Commons
8:30 – 11:45

- Union 2012 will prize teaching and scholarship . . . .
- Renewing Minds: Union 2012
- Objective: to celebrate the legacy of significant learning at Union University and to identify new ways of “prizing” effective teaching

Session I: Interdisciplinary Dialogue Groups

- Are all learning experiences significant? What makes a learning experience significant? What teaching strategies contribute to significant learning?

Session II: Departmental Dialogue Groups

- Significant learning experiences cause students to change. How do you want your students to be changed? What teaching strategies will this change require?

- Share and discuss your idea(s) with your department colleagues.

- Reflect upon the feedback from your colleagues and modify/enhance your strategy for creating a “significant” learning experience that will change your students.
