THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1
ANNUAL HOMECOMING CONCERT
8:00 p.m. - G. M. Savage Memorial Chapel
We’ve moved out of Coburn and into the chapel to enjoy these amazing artists who will come together for the biggest homecoming concert yet!

- Shane & Shane: Native Texans Shane Barnard and Shane Everett not only share the same name but also a love for leading worship. These former Texas A & M Aggies have gained quite a following by touring colleges and conferences, as well as leading worship at youth camps like Kanakuk, Mission Discovery, Pine Cove and Cross Camp. Shane & Shane’s infectious songs continue to capture the attention of university students nationwide, and their fifth album "Pages" (released in August 2007) is no exception. Successful albums, though, have not stopped Shane & Shane from their first love: leading worship. In fact, "the Shanes" still regularly lead worship for Breakaway Ministries' weekly Bible study, which is attended by 3,000-6,000 A & M University students.

- Bebo Norman: Norman is no stranger to the university scene or Union University for that matter. The Dove Award-winning and multi-time nominee has been performing for nearly a decade and his sixth studio release "Between the Dreaming and Coming True" was released in September 2006 to wonderful reviews.

- Alli Rogers is an independent artist who got her start in the music industry at the tender age of 16. With her sophomore release, "The Day of Small Things," Alli has slipped into the skin of those in need to share with eloquent verse about hope, grace and the struggle of the human heart. The Iowa native moved to Nashville four years ago and has now released two critically hailed albums and has taken great strides in developing her own musical character and unique sound. For more information on Alli, please visit www.allirogers.com or www.myspace.com/allirogers.

We are pleased to welcome Shane & Shane, Bebo Norman, and Alli Rogers as our featured artists for the Union University 2007 Homecoming Concert!
