

FINAL CALL FOR PAPERS

Central Division Meeting of the Society of Christian Philosophers

May 8-10, 2008 • Union University • Jackson, Tennessee

Conference Theme: Engaging Eastern Thought

Plenary Speakers:

Kelly James Clark

Professor of Philosophy - Calvin College

Address: "Was Confucius A Theist?"

Robin Collins

Professor of Philosophy - Messiah College

Address: "Hindu and Buddhist Apologetics"

Winfried Corduan

Professor of Philosophy - Taylor University

Address: "Words and Meanings: Can Hindu Concepts Address Western Questions?"

Papers exploring philosophical issues associated with Eastern thought (e.g., Asian or Middle-Eastern philosophy/religion) as well as papers addressing issues broadly related to philosophical and religious pluralism are encouraged. However, papers on any topic of interest to Christian philosophers are welcome as a broad range of philosophical interests will be represented. Participation is open to both Christians and non-Christians. Conference participants need not be members of the Society of Christian Philosophers.

Manuscripts, suitable for blind review, with a reading time of approximately 20-30 minutes, should be submitted, along with an abstract (150 words or less) including the author's name and affiliation, as he or she would like it to appear in the program. Electronic submissions are preferred, but hard copies submitted by conventional mail will also be accepted.

EXTENDED Paper Submission Deadline: February 1, 2008
