4. Please provide any additional information about the information provided above:

This information pertains to the graduate students enrolled in the Master of Urban Education program facilitated through our partnership with Memphis Teacher Residency. Since candidates work in the classroom of a mentor teacher throughout a year-long internship, it is not considered an alternative licensure program. These candidates are admitted to the Educator Preparation Program in the fall of their program of study, and they typically complete the program in the spring of the same academic year. In regard to the admission requirement of "subject area/academic content test or other subject matter verification," all candidates must have received an bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university which meets general education requirements in math, science, social science, humanities, and communication as outlined by the Tennessee Department of Education. The minimum required GPAs at admission and completion differ due to their respective governing policies. The minimum admission GPA of 3.0 is dictated by graduate program admission criteria. However, the minimum completion GPA of 2.75 reflects the EPP licensure standard's minimum requirement.

Supervised Clinical Experience

Note: The clinical experience requirements in this section are preloaded from the prior year's IPRC. Teacher preparation providers will enter the number of participants each year.

Provide the following information about supervised clinical experience in 2020-21. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(C\)\(iii\), §205\(a\)\(1\)\(C\)\(iv\))

If yes, provide the next two responses. If no, leave them blank.

Programs in which candidates are the teacher of record in a classroom during the program (many alternative programs)
Number of clock hours of supervised clinical experience required prior to teaching as the teacher of record in a classroom
Years required of teaching as the teacher of record in a classroom

All Programs
Number of full-time equivalent faculty supervising clinical experience during this academic year (IHE staff) Optional tool for automatically calculating full-time equivalent faculty in the system	26
Number of adjunct faculty supervising clinical experience during this academic year (IHE staff)	2
Number of cooperating teachers/K-12 staff supervising clinical experience during this academic year	139
Number of students in supervised clinical experience during this academic year	157

Please provide any additional information about or descriptions of the supervised clinical experiences:

When calculating these numbers, we included the following groups: Undergraduate Candidates in Early Field Experiences: 79; Undergraduate Interns: 28; Memphis Teacher Residency Interns: 50 (some completing add-on licensure, so not technically program completers). The breakdown of IHE and P-12 supervisors included the following groups: Full Time Union University Faculty: 10; Full Time Memphis Teacher Residency Coaches: 16; Adjunct Union University Faculty: 2; P-12 Staff Supervising Early Field Experiences: 61; P-12 Staff Supervising Intern Candidates: 28; P-12 Staff Supervising MTR Intern Candidates: 50. We continued to experience difficulties in the 2020-2021 academic year with respect to ongoing implications of the pandemic and our local schools' admission of visitors. Therefore, a number of our students completed virtual field experiences in lieu of working directly with a cooperating teacher. That is the reason the number of cooperating teachers/K-12 staff is so much lower than in previous years.

Enrollment and Program Completers

In each of the following categories, provide the total number of individuals enrolled in teacher preparation programs for an initial teaching credential and the subset of individuals enrolled who also completed the program during the academic year.

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Subject Area

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by subject area for academic year 2020-21.

For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Subject area" refers to the subject area(s) an individual has been prepared to teach. An individual can be counted in more than one subject area. If no individuals were prepared in a particular subject area, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

What are CIP Codes?

☐ No teachers prepared in academic year 2020-21

If your program has no teachers prepared, check the box above and leave the table below blank (or clear responses already entered).

What are CIP codes? The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) provides a taxonomic scheme that supports the accurate tracking and reporting of fields of study and program completions activity. CIP was originally developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in 1980, with revisions occurring in 1985, 1990, and 2000 (<https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/Default.aspx?y=55>).

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2020-21. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. \(\$205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\)\)

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

6. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students from low-income families.

☒ Yes

☐ No

7. Prospective teachers are prepared to effectively teach in urban and rural schools, as applicable.

☒ Yes

☐ No

8. Describe your institution’s most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

We work closely with our primary partner district, Jackson-Madison County Schools, to ensure that we are meeting their staffing needs and preparing our candidates for the district’s specific curricular expectations during clinical practice. Our cohorts of special education candidates and general education candidates collaborate in many of the same content area classes with a strategic focus on meeting the needs of all learners. Our clinical experience matrices across the programs of study ensure that each candidate has experience in a wide variety of settings: urban, suburban, and rural. Additionally, these experiences are designed to facilitate candidate interaction with learners from varying socioeconomic backgrounds and those with specific learning disabilities and/or language learning needs.

Annual Goals: Mathematics

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

\(§205\(a\)\(1\) \(A\)\(i\), §205\(a\)\(1\)\(A\)\(ii\), §206\(a\)\)

Report Progress on Last Year’s Goal (2020-21)

1. Did your program prepare teachers in mathematics in 2020-21?

If no, leave remaining questions for 2020-21 blank (or clear responses already entered).

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

2. Describe your goal.

With respect to mathematics education, our goal for 2020-2021 was to increase program enrollment by at least one candidate. From September 2020 through August 2021, we admitted nine candidates pursuing initial licensure in mathematics education (5 undergraduate and 4 post-baccalaureate through Memphis Teacher Residency). We significantly exceeded our goal.

3. Did your program meet the goal?

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

4. Description of strategies used to achieve goal, if applicable:

As a School of Education, we continue to offer EDU 150: Foundations of American Education as a potential elective credit for any non-majors or minors considering teaching as a profession. With this course being offered as early as the first semester of the freshman year, we have seen students more open to exploring the idea of adding a professional education minor to their discipline-specific major. Last year, we saw a definitive increase in the number of mathematics majors interested in the licensure route. We plan to continue working with the Department of Mathematics to ensure that students know that licensure is a very viable option for them on the undergraduate level.

5. Description of steps to improve performance in meeting goal or lessons learned in meeting goal, if applicable:

One of the biggest determinants of our success in this area is the positive relationship we maintain with one of the key mathematics professors at the undergraduate level. He, along with his department chair, work closely with the School of Education regularly. We believe that this relationship is having a very positive impact on attracting mathematics candidates to our program.

6. Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

8. Describe your goal.

With respect to mathematics education, our goal is to increase program enrollment by at least one candidate for the 2021-2022 academic year. At the time of the submission of this report, we have admitted one post-baccalaureate candidates seeking initial licensure in mathematics.

Set Next Year's Goal (2022-23)

9. Will your program prepare teachers in mathematics in 2022-23? If no, leave the next question blank.

- ☒ Yes
☐ No

10. Describe your goal.

With respect to mathematics education, our goal is to increase program enrollment by at least one candidate for the 2022-2023 academic year. It is important to note that our partnership with Memphis Teacher Residency will be discontinued on August 31, 2022. Therefore, we will only have a traditional undergraduate program pathway for mathematics as of September 1, 2022. This change in our partnership status will directly impact our enrollment numbers in this area of need.

Annual Goals: Science

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

Report Progress on Last Year’s Goal (2020-21)

1. Did your program prepare teachers in science in 2020-21?

If no, leave remaining questions for 2020-21 blank (or clear responses already entered).

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

2. Describe your goal.

With respect to science education, our goal was to increase program enrollment by at least one candidate for the 2020-2021 academic year. During the 2020-2021 academic year, we did not admit any undergraduate candidates in the sciences to the Educator Preparation Program. We did admit three post-baccalaureate candidates through Memphis Teacher Residency (1 in Biology 6-12; 2 in Chemistry 6-12), and these candidates completed their licensure requirements in the spring of 2021. Therefore, we exceeded this goal.

3. Did your program meet the goal?

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

4. Description of strategies used to achieve goal, if applicable:

We met this goal solely through our partnership with Memphis Teacher Residency, which is a post-baccalaureate residency initial licensure program. Memphis Teacher Residency attracts high-quality candidates with strong undergraduate disciplinary backgrounds and trains them to teach in high-need, urban settings.

5. Description of steps to improve performance in meeting goal or lessons learned in meeting goal, if applicable:

We would like to strengthen our relationship with undergraduate advisors in the university in an effort to open doors between our Educator Preparation Program and their respective scientific disciplines (biology, chemistry, and physics). We continue to engage in conversations with program leadership regarding ways to foster this connection.

6. Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

We continue to run into road blocks when it comes to recruiting high-quality undergraduate science candidates to the Educator Preparation Program. With the amount of tuition students are investing in their education in the sciences, many of their parents are steering them away from the teaching profession due to the comparatively lower salaries and benefit options. In recent years, the only candidates we have seen pursue licensure in the sciences have been at the post-baccalaureate level--once students have had a chance to get into the workforce and/or begin considering graduate school. Additionally, many of the faculty advisors in the sciences do not even broach the idea of P-12 teaching with their students. It is not viewed as a desirable path, much to our chagrin. As noted above, we continue to work to establish a rapport with advisors in these departments to champion the benefits and rewards of teaching science at the secondary level.

With respect to science education, our goal is to increase program enrollment by at least one candidate for the 2021-2022 academic year. It is important to note that our partnership with Memphis Teacher Residency will be discontinued on August 31, 2022. Therefore, we will only have a traditional undergraduate program pathway for the sciences as of September 1, 2022. This change in our partnership status will directly impact our enrollment numbers in this area of need.

Annual Goals: Special Education

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

Report Progress on Last Year’s Goal (2020-21)

1. Did your program prepare teachers in special education in 2020-21?

If no, leave remaining questions for 2020-21 blank (or clear responses already entered).

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

2. Describe your goal.

With respect to special education, our goal was to increase program enrollment by at least one candidate for the 2020-2021 academic year. From September 2020 through August 2021, we were so pleased to admit six undergraduate candidates to the Educator Preparation Program with a focus on special education. We handily exceeded this goal.

3. Did your program meet the goal?

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

4. Description of strategies used to achieve goal, if applicable:

As we only offer special education licensure at the undergraduate level in the traditional route, enrollment in this program fluctuates based upon students' respective desire to work in this very specialized field. Fortunately, we have a post-secondary certificate program on our campus for students with intellectual and developmental disabilities called the EDGE program. All undergraduate students have the opportunity to interact with our EDGE students and even serve as their on-campus mentors. We truly believe that this program's integral role on our campus has opened students' eyes to the impact they can have in special education. They are able to see it as relational in nature, rather than clinical and intimidating as it is sometimes portrayed in the media.

5. Description of steps to improve performance in meeting goal or lessons learned in meeting goal, if applicable:

6. Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

☐ No

8. Describe your goal.

With respect to special education, our goal is to increase program enrollment by at least one candidate for the 2021-2022 academic year. However, at the time of the submission of this report, we have not admitted any additional candidates interested in pursuing special education licensure.

Set Next Year's Goal (2022-23)

9. Will your program prepare teachers in special education in 2022-23? If no, leave the next question blank.

- ☒ Yes
☐ No

10. Describe your goal.

With respect to special education, our goal is to increase program enrollment by at least three candidates for the 2022-2023 academic year.

Annual Goals: Instruction of Limited English Proficient Students

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

2. Describe your goal.

With respect to Teaching English as a Second Language education, our goal was to increase program enrollment by at least one candidate for the 2020-2021 academic year. During the 2020-2021 academic year, we admitted one undergraduate candidate pursuing a dual endorsement in Spanish and Teaching English as a Second Language to our program. We also admitted two post-baccalaureate candidates to the ESL initial licensure program via Memphis Teacher Residency. Therefore, we exceeded this goal.

- ☐ No

4. Description of strategies used to achieve goal, if applicable:

5. Description of steps to improve performance in meeting goal or lessons learned in meeting goal, if applicable:

6. Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

With respect to the undergraduate pathway, many students do not feel the need to pursue a teaching license in conjunction with a TESOL major at our university. They often feel called to teach in settings outside of a school, and this has directly impacted the fluctuation of our enrollment numbers in this area. We definitely see a higher number of candidates enrolling in this licensure program at the post-baccalaureate level--especially in our alternative route program (detailed in a separate report) and our additional endorsement programming.

Assessment Pass Rates

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. \(§205\(a\)\(1\)\(B\)\)

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact RTI's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

Currently, teacher candidates learn how to integrate technology into instruction while taking methods courses and while in the internship. In their internship classrooms, they experience ways that local educators integrate technology into instruction with students and for learning as appropriate. Additionally, Union's lesson plan format includes a section where candidates plan for the effective use of technology in instruction. During the internship, candidates complete edTPA which requires that they plan and implement a learning segment to meet the goals, objectives, and learning needs of individuals and sub-groups. The effective integration of technology, as available and educationally appropriate, is a component of this overall process. As an outcome of our continuous internal review and improvement process, we have recently enhanced our current offerings related to the effective use of technology. Effective in the fall of 2019, all undergraduate candidates majoring in elementary or special education are required to take a course focused on technology-rich learning as a strategic supplement to the continued integration of technology into methods courses. With the pending revision of the university's core curriculum, we are hopeful to have the available credit hour flexibility to require this course of undergraduate candidates seeking licensure in specialty disciplines as well. Additionally, a course centered exclusively on assessment was launched in the spring of 2020, and this course includes the use of technology in collecting, managing, and analyzing data to improve teaching and learning.

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program.

Teacher Training

1. Provide a description of the activities that prepare general education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

General education teacher candidates learn how to instruct students with disabilities effectively by taking a progression of coursework that begins with an overview of all types of exceptionalities and legislation that determines their teaching responsibilities. This information is applied in instructional design coursework as they determine which of the nine universal adaptations will be used in lessons and as they implement the adaptations when they work one-on-one with students struggling in math and reading. Further, they are taught strategies for differentiating instruction and addressing the stipulations in Individual Education Plans. When teacher candidates are in the internship, they are required to plan a series of lessons that includes adaptations for students with special needs. Further, they submit a portfolio in which they analyze pre- and post-assessment data from students to determine the effectiveness of their instruction and to identify which students need remediation and/or further accommodations. Candidates have a wide variety of clinical experiences which include inclusion settings and schools with diverse populations of students.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

As noted above, general education teacher candidates take a progression of coursework that begins with an overview of all types of exceptionalities and legislation that determines their teaching responsibilities—including their responsibilities as members of IEP teams. In the internship year, candidates participate (as allowed) alongside their mentor teachers in IEP team meetings, and they are responsible for implementing students' IEPs as co-teachers in the classroom. Additionally, they are responsible for documenting the effectiveness of their work with students with disabilities in their culminating licensure assessment, edTPA.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

Much like the above methods to equip candidates to work with students with disabilities, general education teacher candidates also learn about meeting the needs of English Language Learners in coursework and through field experience placements in local P-12 settings. Recently, the EPP restructured the field experience for the foundational course in this area, SE 230: Learning in Diverse Classrooms, to include 7 hours of classroom experience with students with disabilities and 7 hours of classroom experience with English Language Learners. Additionally, we have added a new course to the undergraduate program of study which centers around cultural competency, and this course has been very well-received by candidates as they gain knowledge about the importance of being a culturally-responsive, student-focused educator.

2. Does your program prepare special education teachers?

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

If yes, provide a description of the activities that prepare special education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

Special education teacher candidates learn how to instruct students with disabilities effectively by taking a progression of coursework that begins with an overview of all types of exceptionalities and legislation that determines their teaching responsibilities. This information is applied in instructional design and targeted special education coursework as they determine which of the nine universal adaptations and other appropriate teaching strategies will be used in lessons and as they implement the adaptations when they complete specific field experiences and the internship. Additionally, they are taught strategies for differentiating instruction which informs the adaptations that should be included in an individualized education plan. When special education teacher candidates are in the internship, they are required to plan a series of lessons that includes all appropriate adaptations for students with special needs. They subsequently complete and submit a portfolio in which they analyze pre- and post-assessment data from students to determine the effectiveness of their instruction and to identify which students need remediation and/or further accommodations. Candidates have a variety of clinical experiences which include inclusion and self-contained settings in schools with varying, diverse student populations. Special education candidates, in particular, see a broad range of interventions and settings related to serving students with disabilities effectively within their progression of field experience placements throughout their programs of study.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

As noted above, special education teacher candidates take a progression of coursework that begins with an overview of all types of exceptionalities and legislation that determines their teaching responsibilities—including their responsibilities as leading members of IEP teams. In the internship year, candidates participate (as allowed by the LEA and parents/guardians) alongside their mentor teachers in IEP team meetings, and they are responsible for implementing students' IEPs as co-teachers in the classroom. With their mentor teachers' guidance, special education teacher candidates work within the state's documentation system for IEPs as preparation for becoming teachers of record responsible for managing the IEP process and accompanying documentation. Additionally, they are responsible for demonstrating the effectiveness of their work with students with disabilities in their culminating licensure assessment, edTPA.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

Much like the above methods to equip candidates to work with students with disabilities, special education teacher candidates also learn about meeting the needs of English Language Learners in coursework and through field experience placements in local P-12 settings. Recently, the EPP restructured the field experience for the foundational course in this area, SE 230: Learning in Diverse Classrooms, to include 7 hours of classroom experience with students with disabilities and 7 hours of classroom experience with English Language Learners. Additionally, we have added a new course to the undergraduate program of study which centers around cultural competency, and this course has been very well-received by candidates as they gain knowledge about the importance of being a culturally-responsive, student-focused educator.

Contextual Information

Please use this space to provide any additional information that describes your teacher preparation program(s). You may also attach information to this report card (see below). The U.S. Department of Education is especially interested in any evaluation plans or interim or final reports that may be available.

Union University is an independent, faith-based liberal arts university in Jackson, TN, with branch campuses in Germantown (outside Memphis) and Hendersonville (outside Nashville). The university offers undergraduate and graduate degrees, including the Master of Arts in Education, Master of Education, Master of Urban Education, Education Specialist, and the Doctor of Education. Most students enrolled in the traditional licensure program complete the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Music, or Master of Urban Education degree. Union University's Educator Preparation Program has been approved by the TN Department of Education since the mid-1950's and nationally accredited since 2000 (CAEP; NCATE). Currently, Union offers programs in a wide variety of endorsement areas. Further, Union partners with Memphis Teacher Residency to offer the Master of Urban Education program which includes a year-long internship. The Tennessee State Board of Education issues an annual report card for each state-approved Educator Preparation Program, and Union University continues to receive ratings of meeting and/or exceeding expectations.
