What previous team members said:

- I would say the overarching theme for me was learning what God is doing all over the world and how to best do whatever I can in my current place. For example, I'm not out on the mission field right now, but I have a job and I saw how important financially supporting missions through my tithe was. I am not in a leadership role but I can pray for those who are. Basically, how to use my resources in the best possible ways!
- It was a place where I got to learn about how to better reach the world and my peers around me. A big part of it was prayer. It helped me remember the importance and power of prayer. It also helped me step out of my comfort zone and ask my peers to join me in prayer or to consider opportunities.
- Mob Squad provided a way for me to get involved on campus, get connected with others, and grow in my faith and my understanding of God's heart for the nations.
- After going on a GO Trip and serving on GLT last year, it was good to have a space to stay involved with mobilization, continue relationships, and keep learning about my role in God's work around the world.

- GLT opened my eyes to a broader view of missions, the gospel, prayer, and the lost. It then gave me tools and equipped me to tackle that head on.
- GLT grew me in leadership, mobilization, and a heart for the nations.
- GLT started off as a role [in which I was serving] and team of new friends but quickly turned into a deeper community that I didn't know I needed.
- The relationships I built and the experiences I gained were rewarding in ways I would never have imagined.

GLT Overview

Spring & Summer

- The spring semester consists of meetings with outgoing GLT and incoming Mob Squad. Over the summer, GLT has some reading and assignments to do in preparation for the fall semester, in addition to periodic updates and communication regarding the upcoming semester.

Fall Semester

- The program emphasis during the fall semester is primarily focused on events, personal mobilization and team development. The bulk of the events will take place during Global Focus, including guest speakers, small group events, and promotions throughout the month. Each individual also works to engage with peers to encourage them in the next steps of pursuing God's global purpose. At the conclusion of Global Focus, attention is focused on reading and processing GO Trip applications and putting teams together. The event emphasis culminates with the GO Trip Team Reveal. Once teams are in place, the focus shifts to brainstorming and planning for GO Trip training for the upcoming semester.
- The training and personal development components of the fall semester focus on things such as planning, executing and hosting events, tools for engaging with peers for personal mobilization, team dynamics, considerations when forming teams, and principles for and approaches to training. In addition to the development that takes place in the team context, each individual works toward achieving personal goals determined at the beginning of the semester.

Spring Semester

- The program emphasis during the spring semester is focused on team development and future programming. With the assistance of mobilization staff and interns, each GLT member works on assessing and meeting needs within his/her GO Trip team. Time is also given to development of ideas and plans for future events, programming, and training.
- The training and personal development components of the spring semester focus on identifying personal strength and weaknesses, passions and giftings, decision making, and cultivating growth in self and others. Each individual works toward achieving personal goals determined at the beginning of the semester.
